Deep Insight

Reveal latent motivations and actionable plans

I did this program earlier this year. I don't think I have experienced anything like this before. That is saying something, considering the number of workshops I do for professional and personal development. I learnt a couple of key things about myself in 3 days, that in 5 years of intense self-work were hidden from me in plain sight... so much has opened up in the weeks since the workshop - opportunities and growth I am stepping into.
